Container Media Management

MANAGING GROWING MEDIA IN NURSERY PRODUCTION

Growing media is a vital component in producing and maintaining the highest plant quality in containers. Growing media also has a huge influence on water use efficiency in nursery production supporting efficient irrigation systems.

The Container Media Management workshop is designed to provide an introduction to growing media, its components and properties

The 'Container Media Management' workshop will be presented by Steve Hart and Lex McMullin. Mark Rayner from Greenfingers Potting Mix will describe how the pine bark composting process is managed commercially and will guide a short tour of the composting facilities to complete the afternoon.

Workshop spaces are limited so bookings are taken on a first come basis.
